Majoring in General Studies, Patel's true passion is fashion design. ### Jack Kent Cooke College Scholar Gamauri Spencer

Gamauri Spencer is one of 60 high-achieving community college students to earn the 2024 Cooke Undergraduate Transfer Scholarship. This highly selective scholarship is for the nation's top community college students seeking to complete their bachelor's degrees at four-year colleges or universities. Each Cooke scholar has access to generous financial support for two to three years, college planning support, ongoing advising and the opportunity to connect with a thriving community of fellow scholars.

Academic Heraldry

The wearing of caps, gowns and hoods at college and university functions dates back to the Middle Ages. Monks and scholars wore them to keep warm in the damp, drafty 12th-century castles and halls of learning. Through the years, their style and color have come to represent specific meanings. Gowns for associate and bachelor's degrees, worn in undergraduate study, have a semi-stiff yoke, long pleated front and intricate shirring across the shoulders and back. The gown is worn closed and is distinguished by its long pointed sleeves. The gown for the master's degree has the same yoke effect as the bachelor's but is designed to be worn open or closed. The back of the sleeve is oblong and square-cut. Gowns for the doctoral degree are worn open or closed and have long velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on the bell-shaped sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or in a color distinctive to the field of learning to which the degree pertains. Some colleges and universities have adopted gowns in the primary colors of their institutions. Thus, you might see graduates of the following institutions wearing colored gowns, e.g., Columbia University - slate gray, New York University - violet and Princeton University - orange. The hood provides color and definitive meaning to the academic regalia. The hood is lined with the color(s) of the institution conferring the degree and bordered with velvet of the proper width and color to indicate the field of learning.
